April 2023 Wrap Up

What an exciting month April has been, with the Easter celebrations. We at Dewick & Associates have been very busy and we invite you to take a sneak preview at some of the projects we've been working on. Happy reading!

Copy of book

If you are like most Project Managers: you hate doing O&M Manuals. You are super busy. You don't have the time. You have more pressing tasks that need to be done to attain Practical Completion. So, you leave them to the last minute and do the bare minimum to get them done. But you know they could have been better. Yet, this approach repeats itself at the end of every project. This approach means you miss out on the benefits of modern, engineered, O&M Manuals.
