

PORSCHE TRAINING CENTRE

CODEX PLUMBING

PORSCHE

Project Introduction

Porsche, the German car manufacture specialising in high-performance vehicles, is opening a new state-of-the-art training facility within the Essendon Fields Development, Melbourne. The new facility will provide opportunities for both service technicians & sales representatives from across Australia to improve their knowledge of the Porsche product with a specific focus on the new Porsche Taycan, Porsche's first Electric sports car, entering the Australian market toward the end of 2020. The state-of-the-art facilities includes Entry & Brand Lounge, two classrooms & two practice rooms. The architectural layout of the building enables one classroom & practice room to be opened up into one space to enable hands-on learning within a classroom setting. The building is also provided with Amenities & an Office.
